

November 4-7, 2025 • Atlanta

ObesityWeek® is the preeminent international conference for obesity researchers and clinicians, and home to the latest developments in evidence-based obesity science.

Over half of ObesityWeek® attendees receive full or partial financial support from their employers.

Empower your team by sending them to ObesityWeek®!

Why Your Staff Should Attend

Cutting-edge basic, translational, and clinical research, including new research orals and posters

State-of-the-art obesity treatment and prevention, from pediatric to adult care

New delivery mechanisms to scale up the treatment of obesity as a disease

Interventions that suit the needs of your patients, from diet and exercise to pharmacological to surgical

Latest efforts in advocacy and public health policy

Learn from professors at renowned universities who are conducting clinical trials and research

Join The Obesity Society when registering to maximize savings and receive other member benefits!

Learn more at obesityweek.org

